

CORONER BUSY IN
WILEY DAMAGE SUIT

In our issue of last week it was stated that Bessie Wiley had asked for a dismissal of her $50,000 damage suit against the former Medina Board of Trade and Business Men's association in this county and would probably institute a new one in the Cuyahoga county courts, two or more of the defendants now being residents of that county, by so doing, securing in substance, a change of venue, which she had previously sought without success. The new case was filed within the week.

Under ordinary circumstances it is the duty of the sheriff to deliver summons to parties at suit. But in this case the sheriff himself is a defendant and is prevented from serving summons upon himself. In such cases the law provides that the duty shall fall upon the coroner. When the case was first filed here the coroner filed summons upon Sheriff Gehman, the latter delivering the balance of the ninety-one documents in person.

On Monday, following the filing of the new suit, Coroner R. A. Brintnall of Seville received notification from Clerk Haserodt of Cuyahoga county to proceed with the service of the summons on the Medina defendants. "Doc" admits he was nonplussed. While realizing he was under a court order, he had no blanks, no seal and last, but not least, no knowledge of "where he was at". He finally made up his mind that he was up against it, and secured the necessary printed forms from the Sheriff and "blew himself" for a coroner's seal, something that no one around here ever before seems to have heard of.

The statutory fee for service is 75 cents for the first and 25 cents for each additional service; also 8 cents per mile in delivering the summons. Accompanying his notification, Coroner Brintnall received a check for $80, which will barely remunerate him for the service, aside from the mileage. If "Doc" can serve them all in less than a hundred miles of travel, he is "going some."

QUIET TITLE SUIT
RECALLS HISTORY

M. C. Lytle, Anna Seely, Mary E. Wadsworth, and Wadsworth Lodge No. 119, I. O. O. F., are parties in a suit to quiet title filed here Saturday. The case has an interesting background in the early history of the town.

The house, corner Lyman and Broad streets, at present occupied by Justice of the Peace M. C. Lytle, was built nearly 75 years ago by Dr. George K. Pardee, a pioneer resident, and had been originally intended for a town library and medical school.

Later, about 50 years ago, it was sold to the I. O. O. F. lodge and converted into a temple for the order. Many of the lodge were made members in the building.

Since that time the title has always been questionable, and the present suit in brought to quiet title. The house is one of the oldest in the central part of Wadsworth.

AGED RESIDENT OF COPLEY DEAD

Two old residents of Copley died during the past week. Marshall Wagar, 78, died Sunday night after an illness of two years. He is survived by a widow and a daughter, Mrs. Ida Andrews of Cleveland. Funeral services were held at the house Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Jane Arnold, 79, died Saturday afternoon of heart trouble, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lucy A. Emery. Several children survive her. Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1 o'clock, at the house.

TRAIN TAKES OFF ARM OF WADSWORTH MAN

Wm. Barnhart of South Wadsworth was struck by a local train at the Main street crossing of the Erie railroad in that city on Thursday evening of last week, sustaining the loss of one arm, besides other serious injuries. He was removed to the local hospital, where it is reported that he will probably recover.

RECORDER'S FEB. STATEMENT

Recorder C. S. Rice issues the following statement of business transacted in his office during the month of February as compared with the same month in 1916.

February, 1917—Deeds recorded, 74; mortgages recorded, 40; oil and gas leases recorded, 2; mortgages cancelled, 24; oil and gas leases cancelled, 12.

February, 1916—Deeds recorded, 54; mortgages recorded, 34; oil and gas leases recorded, 6; mortgages cancelled, 30; oil and gas leases cancelled, 8. Total receipts for February, 1917, $232.29; total receipts for February, 1916, $173.82.

AUTO TAGS DEFECTIVE

State Automobile Registrar McCurdy says that he has received hundreds of automobile tags sent back by dissatisfied motorists because of alleged defects in printing or because the tags were mislabeled. He said it was costing the state hundreds of dollars in postage to find where the tags were sent. The total registrations of automobiles now is 180,000.

EXPECT NEW TAXATION
BILL TO PASS

It is expected that the pending bill prepared by the joint committee on taxation will become a law in such form as to require tax notices to be mailed to all tax payers or left at convenient places to be obtained by them, voluntary returns to be transmitted to the county auditors. The assessors will then meet the first Monday in May for instructions and take the field to secure corrections of returns and returns of omitted property. County auditors will be advised immediately upon the passage of the bill as to their immediate duties.

TWO NEW GAS VEINS
STRUCK ON MONDAY

Two fairly good gas veins were struck Monday by drillers not far from town—one on the Fred Martin farm a mile west on Smith Road, the other on A. Van Boven's farm, corner of Branch and York roads. The former well was sunk by the Medina Gas & Fuel Co. and a million and a half cubic feet of gas was encountered at a depth of about 3200 feet. The well was cased on Wednesday.

The well on the Van Boven farm was put down by the Ohio Gas & Fuel Co. and at approximately the same depth as the other well a like flow was encountered. While not as large as some other wells recently drilled, they are regarded as successful ones.

Within the past week or ten days the Ohio Gas & Fuel Co. have started two other wells, one on the Levi Branch allotment on the State road and the other on Mrs. Sheldrick's farm, a mile north of the Branch property. These wells are the last ones the Medina Gas & Fuel Co. are to drill under their contract with the drilling company for the past year, which has numbered about fifty wells, twenty or more in this vicinity, the others south of here, in Burbank and near Wooster. However, the company will enter into contract for about the same number of wells for the coming year, according to a statement made to the Sentinel-Tuesday by the local manager, Grant McNeal.

HOTEL CHANGES HANDS

On Tuesday of this week a deal was transacted whereby the Union Hotel, conducted for the last five years by A. R. Bixler, will be taken over by H. L. Kernan and B. O. Inman, the latter of whom is the old owner of the building. The hotel is located on the corner of Broad and State streets, and has been a successful business since its recent dismantlement to give place to a modern business structure while Mr. Inman, father of Mrs. Kernan, was a successful farmer of Spencer. Mr. Inman had a sale of his property in Spencer Monday, although possession of the hotel property will not be taken until April 1. Mr. Bixler is undecided at present as to what he will do after April 1.

CONFERENCE MEETING

A meeting of the district committee of the Medina association of the Congregational churches was held in Medina on Monday, to discuss arrangements for the annual spring conference of the district churches to be held at the local church on April 25. Those present at the meeting were Rev. F. N. Bennett of Lorain, Rev. E. S. Rothrock of Cleveland, Dr. C. N. Pond and Prof. F. F. Jewett of Oberlin and Rev. R. G. Armstrong of Amherst. Dr. H. S. Fritsch of the Medina church and a member of the conference committee, was unable to be present on account of illness. While no definite program was decided upon at Monday's meeting, members of the committee stated that the coming conference will be one of unusual interest and that the program will soon be in readiness for publication. Medina county churches belonging to the association are Medina, Chatham, Lafayette, Litchfield, Lodi, York and Weymouth.

Local Church Reaches
Hundredth Anniversary

Next Sunday, March 11—to the very day of the week, will mark the one hundredth anniversary of the first religious service ever held in Medina. It was an Episcopal service and there being no church building the service was held at the home of Zenas Hamilton, a zealous and prominent Episcopalian at that time. This was the actual beginning of the Episcopal church in Medina, which has steadily grown and prospered during the century of its existence.

Rev. R. Searle, who had held previous charges in Ashtabula and Cleveland, was the organizer and first rector of the Medina church. He was here in the spring of 1817 and at once began the work of organization. The true spirit and ambition of this good man is evidenced by the fact that there were only a score, or perhaps a few more residents in the community. But the churchmen rallied to his standard and another meeting was decided upon for April 10, Rev. Searle meanwhile carrying on his meetings in other places.

Following the first meeting, interest grew rapidly and the members became enthusiastic for a church building of their own. History states that "on the 10th day of April, 1817, the people assembled with teams and tools at the place appointed (about a mile north-east of the present building), cleared away the underbrush, cut the timber, hauled it together and put up a log meeting house; cut the tree, made the shingles, covered it, and about noon word came that Rev. Searle would be there and preach a sermon at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of that day. We did our best to be ready. We prepared seats by placing poles between the logs and stakes drove in the ground and had it already in due time. Rev. Searle came and fulfilled his appointment. The exercises were accompanied with appropriate singing and all passed off in a very pleasing pioneer style."

At this time Medina village had not been laid out, but which was done the following year, 1818. Not long after the first church was built it was taken down and rebuilt at another point and in a more substantial manner and served the double purpose of church and school. The building was destroyed by fire a year after its erection.

As the church grew in membership there was felt need for a more commodious structure, and though efforts were made from time to time with this aim, it was not until 1837 that the ambitions of these pioneer churchmen became realized, when on July 11 of that year the new building was consecrated to God, by Rt. Rev. Charles P. McIlvaine.

Rev. Roger Searle directed the destiny of St. Paul's church until 1824, when, owing to advancing years, he sought less exacting work. He died in Ashtabula in the fall of 1826. Following Rev. Bronson, Rev. Alva Sanford became rector until 1835, he in turn being succeeded by Rev. Wm. Granville, who presided until 1845. Rev. George S. Davis was rector from 1845 to 1855 and again from 1857 to 1870, the two intervening years being directed by Rev. Edward Kennedy. From 1870 to 1872, Rev. Anson Clark served as rector, who was followed by Rev. W. H. Dean for the succeeding three years. Rev. E. W. Colloque became rector in 1876, serving until 1885, when Rev. N. E. Cornwall assumed the rectorship, serving until 1888. From

SENATE PUTS QUIETUS ON MONOPOLY BILL

The Gilmore utility bill which provided that new utilities would have to get a "certificate of necessity" from the public utilities commission before entering the field in competition with an established utility, summarily met its Waterloo when it reached the Senate at Columbus last week.

Not only did the bill meet death, but the present law was modified to exempt mutual telephone companies from the "necessity" provision. The amendment was adopted by a vote of nearly two to one and was clearly distasteful to the lobbyists backing the bill.

1888 to 1890, Rev. Rolla Dyer was rector, he being succeeded by Rev. C. E. Harding, who continued until 1893. Rev. Wm. J. Hawthorne was rector from 1893 to 1897 and Rev. Edwin L. Kemp, from 1897 to 1899. F. E. McManus was rector, following Rev. Kemp, until 1906, the year of 1907 the church being under the guidance of Rev. John S. Lightbourne. The next six years Rev. Henry D. Stauffer served as rector, he being followed in 1914 by Rev. Wm. V. Edwards, the present rector.

Thus it is to be noted that St. Paul's Episcopal church in Medina has been significantly blessed during the century of its existence, the records and traditions bearing evidence of a continual growth, both spiritually and materially, since its organization in the very early days.

As was stated in the Sentinel a week ago, the present rector, Rev. Edwards, who came to the local church in May, 1914 recently was tendered a position as assistant director of the Episcopal city mission service in Cleveland and has accepted. The erstwhile prosperity of the church has been faithfully maintained by Rev. Edwards during the three years of his stewardship and he and his estimable and devoted wife will leave a wide circle of friends in Medina within and without the church, when they enter upon their new work in the Sixth City.

The edifice erected in 1837 was a large frame structure and of a style of architecture common to that time, many specimens of which may still be seen in rural communities throughout the country. This building housed the Episcopal worshippers until 1884, when again the church had outgrown its quarters and the present handsome and commodious structure was erected, being completed in the fall of the same year at a cost of $16,000. The first divine service held in the new building was on Friday morning, Dec. 18, 1884. The building received its consecration on June 1, 1887, fifty years after the former church was consecrated.

Some of the members of the first church, in 1817, were Rufus Ferris, Miles Seymour, Benjamin Hill, Harvey Hickox, David Warner, Wm. Paintor, Geo. Warner, M. B. Welton and Zenas Hamilton.

The first marriage in Medina is said to have been performed by Rev. Searle, the contracting parties being Asa Farnes and Eliza Northrup, the ceremony taking place March 23, 1818.

The church has had members who were confirmed by Bishop Seabury, the first Episcopal bishop in the United States. Two local rectors have been advanced to priesthood—Rev. Colloque and the present rector, Rev. Edwards.

As an unusual evidence of the bond of relationship existing in the church from its beginning, is the fact, or which there are others akin, that an uncle of Miss Mary Clark of Medina, married a daughter of Roger Searle, the organizer and first rector of the local church.

Owing to Lent there will not be the demonstration next Sunday at the church that there would be at another season. But plans have been made to celebrate in an extensive way on April 10, the hundredth anniversary of the building of the first religious temple in Medina.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Medina Y. M. C. A. Board will meet next Monday evening at the call of President W. J. Wall.

A call comes from association headquarters in behalf of soldiers under arms, in hospitals and in camps, for "good magazines, carefully selected for their happy, clean stories and instructive, inspiring messages." Such magazines will be forwarded from the County Y. M. C. A. office in the Gazette block, where friends may leave them.

Lloyd Hanson, who has been on the Mexican border, a sergeant of the hospital corps, Ohio Cavalry, was mustered out at Ft. Benjamin Harrison recently and is now visiting his parents at Grangerburg.

OH, YOU HOLSTEIN!

Ed. Leohr, who operates the Ed. Culver farm, near Poo, seems to be justified in his opinion that the four-year-old Holstein bull he sold to R. O. Bowman last week is one of the best ever. The animal weighed 2080 pounds and was purchased by Leohr a few years ago when the cost quotation was 3c a pound. It sold last week for 7 1/2c a pound and Leohr calculates that the difference together with what he has profited by the use of the bull since he purchased it, places it clearly in the category of "some bull." The Sentinel agrees with Mr. Leohr in his reckoning.

ALLEGES BLACKMAIL

A blackmail case was brought to light Monday in Wadsworth, when local Italians were held before Mayor Boyer charged with fighting. Joe Police was charged with threatening to extort $100 from other Italians. The case was continued.

SOUTHWESTERN TRAFFIC
TIED UP ON MONDAY

Traffic on the Southwestern Monday was held up practically all day on account of trouble with the machinery at the Elyria power house. From morning until noon cars were running intermittently, current running only a half hour or so at a time, then being off for the same length of time or more. From 1 o'clock in the afternoon until about 7 there was no power at all, traffic both north and south being completely tied up. All day long the local passenger station was thronged with people wearing sinister features, but like Job, during it all Agent Newton never sinned once. Tuesday traffic was normal.

TO GIVE LECTURE ON PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Since the day Dewey fought the battle of Manila Bay, American interest in the Philippines has never waned. The great sea hero has gone, but the Philippine problem is still with us.

There are ten millions of these people over there. They cover an area equal to that of the United States east of the Mississippi. There are people yet on the lowest rung of the ladder and others that hold their own with our American university students. A civilization based on the old Malay system, nurtured by three hundred years of Spanish rule, flourishes under seven teen years of Uncle Sam's rule.

For 700,000 of the people dog takes the place of turkey and a head-hunting dinner. They have moving day down to a matter of a few minutes. The pictures are from the camera of Dist. School Supt. F. D. Myers, who has spent two years among the various tribes studying their customs and touching all phases of life, from the agriculturalists to the more mysterious ones of marriage and death, has pictures that are pronounced by men who are acquainted with the islands as the most valuable from a sociological standpoint that have ever been brought to this country. His collection of weapons and trinkets give a new insight into the Malay, from the Moro to the Igorote.

Mr. Myers will give his lecture, "Our Little Brown Brothers," at the Methodist church, Wednesday evening, Mar. 14, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Queen Esther society of that church.

HIGHWAYMEN HOLD UP
FORMER HINCKLEY MAN

Henry C. Proulx, a former Hinckley man, but lately of Cleveland, where he conducts a confectionery store at 5914 Cedar avenue, was severely beaten by two highway robbers who entered his establishment Monday night.

Pointing revolvers at him, the highwaymen ordered Proulx to turn over his money and valuables. When he offered resistance, the men beat him on the head with their weapons, felling him and cutting an ugly gash in his head. They took $30 in cash from the cash register and escaped.

Mr. Proulx resided in Hinckley for many years and is the owner of a large farm north of the center. He is a nephew of Probate Judge O. O. Van Deusen of Medina.

—Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, was operated upon at German hospital, Cleveland, last Sunday afternoon, for a gathering over one of his eyes, which threatened the loss of his vision. He underwent the operation successfully and although his condition was very serious, it is reported that he will probably recover. His father is with him, while Mrs. Smith is confined to her home with the numps and the younger son, Billy, is threatened with tonsillitis.

—A meeting of the Medina County Automobile and Good Roads association will be held in the court house next Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Officers for the coming year will be selected and plans discussed for future efforts toward securing better road conditions in Medina county. The association has been active the past year and look forward to greater success the coming year.

—While driving to Medina in company with Mrs. Fred Roshon last Friday, Mrs. Alice Hartman of Wadsworth road had the misfortune to sustain a broken arm when her horse shied at a pony, tipping over the vehicle and throwing both ladies to the ground. Aside from a few minor bruises Mrs. Roshon escaped without injury. The horse stopped when the carriage overturned.

—Harold Spieth of Grafton, employed at drilling a gas well on the John House farm in Lafayette, met with a painful injury last Saturday by having his entire face seriously burned through a premature ignition of gas. Dr. Robinson attended his injuries and he was later conveyed to his home in Grafton. His physician says he will not be disfigured permanently.

—His many Medina friends will be glad to learn that Mr. Ralph Harrington entered upon his new duties as private secretary to the vice president and general manager of The Northern Ohio Traction & Light Co., A. C. Blinn, in Akron on Monday of this week. The position is an exacting and responsible one and substantially remunerative.

LANDIS INDICTED WITH VICTIM'S WIFE

Glenn Landis was indicted by the Wayne county grand jury late Wednesday afternoon for first degree murder, in which he was charged with killing Charles Eshelman, his cousin, of Easton.

Mrs. Belva Eshelman, wife of the murdered man, was indicted by the grand jury, but Prosecutor Benton G. Hay did not make known the charge placed against Mrs. Eshelman.

Mrs. Eshelman was in Wooster all day Wednesday, having been accompanied there by her father, R. E. McElroy, expecting an indictment to be returned against her and she was prepared to give bond to the court for her appearance when wanted in court for trial.

LATER—Mrs. Eshelman was arraigned Thursday before Judge Lyman Critchfield and plead not guilty to an indictment charging her with complicity in the murder of her husband.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS
FIRM ON MONDAY

The grocery firm of Foote and Gun-solus underwent another change on Monday of this week, when Mr. Gun-solus disposed of his interest to Herbert Edwards, the latter taking possession Monday noon, the firm name now being Foote & Edwards.

Mrs. Gun-solus came from Akron about a year ago, purchasing a proprietary interest in the firm from E. P. Hartman. Previous to coming to Medina Mr. Gun-solus was in the employ of the Firestone Rubber Co. and we understand he contemplates accepting the same position again.

Mr. Edwards, who until last December conducted the grocery business now owned by O. C. Thatcher & Son, began his business career as a delivery boy in the store in which he now has an interest, about sixteen years ago, working for Funk & Hunsberger, then Hunsberger & Foote, later for Foote & Pelton and then buying Mr. Foote's interest and becoming a partner of Mr. Pelton. Mr. Edwards says it seems like getting back home and beginning all over.

W. C. T. U. NEWS

The County W. C. T. U. met in executive session in the Reformed church at Wadsworth Thursday, March 1. Owing to sickness a number of members were unable to be present.

Plans for the coming campaign were discussed and plans of the different county superintendents heard. Great work is being planned for the year and the aim is "Ohio Dry" this fall.

Rev. Shelly of Wadsworth gave a report of the convention held at Columbus. He told how we should unite all dry forces and forget everything but our one aim of unity. If Ohio goes dry, the Bone Dry Law will make it genuinely dry.

Dr. Carolyn Hilborn of Akron spoke on "Temperance and Missions" and how they ought to work together. How a missionary ship unloaded 17 missionaries and 5,000 barrels of whiskey. She said, "Go into your churches and take your temperance with you and when you come out bring your Christianity with you. There are enough Methodists alone to put Ohio in the dry column."

"Temperance must be the right arm of all foreign and home missionary work. Let us organize together. Ohio must go dry, for with nearly everything around her dry but Lake Erie, she will get all the riff-raff from all the surrounding dry states."

Mrs. Chambers, president of Summit county W. C. T. U. gave a report of the State W. C. T. U. mid-year meeting, held at Lancaster. She told of state plans for making Ohio dry.

"Get speakers to teach people why we want them to vote dry and what the effects of alcohol are on the body," said Mrs. Chambers. "Co-operate in everything to make Ohio dry. Do first things first and temperance should be first. Don't miss a single W. C. T. U. meeting and work to double the membership."

Medina W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. John Clark, Friday, March 2, about forty being present. A number of new members were enrolled.

The opening song, "We're Out for Prohibition," was followed by devotions led by Mrs. Edwin Clark. Mrs. E. P. Hartman gave reports of the county executive meeting held at Wadsworth, March 1. Mrs. Edwin Clark had charge of the program and opened by reading Peter Ainslee on "Prayer," which was followed by several short prayers and the singing "Some Glad Day." Mrs. Carrie Beach gave a fine report of the dry meeting held at the M. E. church, Feb. 3. Mrs. Clark made special mention of two red letter-days this month—Neal Dow and Lillian M. Stevens. Mrs. W. A. McIntosh then sang a beautiful solo. Mrs. H. S. Ziegler gave Mrs. Francis E. Fuller's dream, read by Mrs. Fuller at the State Convention. Mrs. Clark read a paper on "What Benefit Will the Ballot be to Women?" A playlet "People Perish for the Want of Knowledge," was given by the following ladies: Mrs. Paul Rollins, Mrs. Rounds, Mrs. Black, Mrs. T. A. Snyder, Mrs. Root, Mrs. McIntosh and Mrs. Davnport. This was followed by a piano duet by Mrs. Hartzog and Mrs. Hartman. The meeting closed with the W. C. T. U. benediction.
